Working as a aviation ground handler

Aviation ground handlers ensure the efficient and effective arrival, turnaround and departure of aircraft. They can work in a number of environments, such as commercial airports, military bases/aerodromes, on aircraft carriers, heliports or other airfields.

Their day-to-day duties provide all necessary help and support when guiding aircraft and transport, loading and unloading luggage and cargo, checking luggage against flight lists and taking it to the aircraft / reclaim conveyor belt and other duties as assigned while maintaining health and safety and overall good working practices that comply with aviation regulations.

The programme's structure

Your apprentices will be placed in a ground handler role over a minimum period of 12 months during which they will be supported while on-programme by their tutor. The tutor will review the progress of the apprentice against the standard to ensure they are prepared for end-point assessment.

Your apprentice's journey
