Highfield Level 3 International Award in Accident and Incident Investigation

In any business, things don't always go to plan, so when accidents and incidents happen, an investigation can help identify why the existing risk control measures failed and what improvements or additional measures are needed.

Who requires this qualification?

This qualification has been designed for those working in the capacity of supervisor, manager or team leader, or those who are preparing to start work at this level.

What are the entry requirements?

There are no prerequisites or prior learning required to take this qualification. However, learners may find it helpful if they've already achieved a Level 2 Award in Accident and Incident Investigation.

What does the qualification cover?

Topics include:

- the principles and purpose of effective accident and incident investigation in the workplace
- the contributing factors
- the process of investigating
- including positive interview techniques
- analysis of evidence gathered
- setting a plan of action to prevent a recurrence
- understanding the reasons why some investigations might fail

Why a Highfield qualification?
